PROFILE

I've spent 17+ years building digital products and enterprise platforms, starting out as a developer and gradually moving into product and technology leadership. Over the last few years I've focused on AI transformation, leading GenAI and LLM initiatives that delivered $2M+ in annual value and significant cost reductions through automation and process redesign. I've worked across financial services, eCommerce, IoT, marketplaces, and CleanTech, from global enterprises and listed companies through to early-stage startups and scale-ups, mostly in complex or regulated environments. I'm comfortable working at any level, from board-level AI strategy through to the technical details with an engineering squad. And I care about AI that actually gets adopted, not just built.
